BURRILL NATIONAL BANK ELLSWORTH, MAINE

Making the Nation's Credit Liquid

RESERVOIR systems insure a steady water supply in every city and large town. The faucet is of very little value without the reservoir behind it.

The Federal Reserve Banking System is a simple and practical means of making the nation's credit liquid at all times.

As a member of that system, this bank is as independent of local conditions as it is humanly possible to make it.

He was bound over to the grand jury in the sum of $1,000, and committed to the county jail in default. Setting fire in the night time to a house in which a person is sleeping is a pretty serious offense. Thomas J. Turner of Waltham, alone in his house, was awakened shortly before midnight Sunday night by smoke, and upon investigation found that fires had been started with kerosene, paper and rags at both doors to the house and also in a third place under his window. One fire had burned itself out; the other two were burning briskly, but Mr. Turner succeeded in extinguishing them. Early Monday (Continued on page 5)

DOCTOR URGED AN OPERATION

Instead I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Was Cured.

Baltimore, Md.—"Nearly four years I suffered from organic troubles, nervousness and headaches and every month would have to stay in bed most of the time. Treatments would relieve me for a time but my doctor was always urging me to have an operation. My sister asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before consenting to an operation. I took five bottles of it and it has completely cured me and my work is a pleasure. I tell all my friends who have any trouble of this kind what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me."—NELLIE B. BRITTINGHAM, 609 Calverton Rd., Baltimore, Md.

It is only natural for any woman to dread the thought of an operation. So many women have been restored to health by this famous remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, after an operation has been advised that it will pay any woman who suffers from such ailments to consider trying it before submitting to such a trying ordeal.

THE AMERICAN, Ellsworth, Me.

JUST TELL THEM SO.

By John T. Hinds.

There's much to do the whole way through, And little use complaining, For the darkest night will change to light, And the blackest cloud will rain. If worth you find in weak mankind, 'Twill do all good to know That some one thought they nobly wrought, And frankly told them so.

Enough will remain of bitter pain, With all the aid you lead; Some will be sad and others glad On down to the journey's end, As in the throng you pass along. With rapid strides or slow, If virtue you see in bond or free, Just stop and tell them so.

There are many cares in home affairs That wear the brain and heart, And many a way, 'most every day, In which to bear a part. If you love your wife as you do your life, It will make her heart aglow, To make her feel your love is real, To often tell her so.

If on the road you see a load Some pilgrim downward pressing, A willing hand to help him stand Will bring you back a blessing, So in the fight 'twixt wrong and right That's waged here below, Should praise be said; don't wait till dead Before you tell them so.

—Selected by Jennie.

If we would remember the central thought of the poem, there would be no need of enlarging upon the subject. For several years I have had among the clippings sent for use an article on "People Who Radiate Force," and I copy a few sentences, as they seem in the same line as the stanzas above:

It is interesting to note how different people affect us by their thoughts about us, their presence and their influence. The moment one man comes into our presence he seems to touch the very springs which let loose all that is mean, contemptible, and defiant in us. He arouses our antagonism every time he speaks. He irritates us, arouses our opposition even against our will. He belongs to a type of character that does not harmonize with the best that is in us. We have an instinctive dread of people of this kind. They stir up and give new life to the very traits of character which we try to eradicate.

On the other hand, there are people who are a perpetual inspiration to us. Every time they come near us we feel as though we had taken a spiritual tonic, a mental bath. Where the others made us feel ten years older, these people renew our youth. All the antagonism we felt toward the irritators has gone in an instant, the sun has broken out of darkness and brought fresh life and cheer and we feel a new joy of living. They bring hopefulness, joy, peace and comfort. We long for their coming we dread to have them go, because they have changed our very climate from an arctic to a temperate one. We take new courage when they come again; they add strength to our determination to make the most of life.

I have been having some vacations on the installment plan, and while we have read so much and heard so much of the beauties of Maine, one cannot realize what Hancock county itself can present in delightful views and scenery until an exploring expedition is enjoyed.

One trip was like this: Entrance on a new road and on to other new roads leading through woods, winding around hills, climbing steep and long ascents, coming into magnificent views of distant mountains, of flowing streams, of placid ponds reflecting overhanging branches; then down a steep hill into some quiet valley and up again to see on the slopes thrifty farms, with sheep and cattle grazing on the hillside.

And so, on and on, and then—Aunt Maria's, for that was our objective point, or one of them. Yes, she and Uncle Mark were there, and a guest of theirs. We thought he was "doling up" for a visit somewhere, and we still think so, and hope we made our stay not so lengthy that they should miss any pleasure.

We received a warm welcome and visited the garden, which Aunt Maria says she has not done much work in, but the tubs and pots of geraniums are worth seeing; the dahlias are budded and the gladioli growing fine, which, considering that they have been showered at night with sixteen pails of water by Aunt Maria herself, ought to show their gratitude by growing well. The house plants were very pretty, too. We called on the bossies, first-class ones, and were introduced to the horses and walked through the eighty-foot barn.

You will think by this time we had made quite a call. So did we, and inquiring the way to the home of "Grandma Disable" we wound around another hill, found her, and trust she was as glad to see us as we were to meet her. The view was also fine, and we could just discern the outline of one mountain top which she told us the old people used to say was Mt. Washington, but she did not vouch for that as a fact. Everywhere here roses and other flowers brighten the places and from both of these we were given beautiful roses, sweet williams and other blossoms. Aunt Maria was partial to our "chauffeur," and decorated him with a tea-rose.

A mile or more away from Grandma Disables who is not an old grandma at all we called to see "Law," and were cordially greeted. Her cares are increased by the addition of four little grandchildren, their mother having been a victim of the influenza. Then Dedham was suggested, and Esther was given a surprise by our arrival there, and we also found her John at home and her vines and garden flourishing.

A ride by Long pond to Backport, and supper there, made a complete outing. If the chauffeur's vacation were not over, all of the M. B.'s in the county would have a call from AUNT MADGE.

NEW FASHIONS IN
GOWNS AND COATS

Styles as They Are Reflected in the Latest Phases of Fashion.

MANY PARIS MODES ADOPTED

Evening Coats Vie With Evening Gowns in Their Brilliance—Taffeta Favorite Fabric—Tunics in Evidence.

Fashionable cities of the United States keep their fingers on the pulse of Paris. The mood of the moment expressed on the banks of the Seine is immediately felt by the style diagnosticians on this side of the Atlantic. Every symptom is known, every fashion idea is gauged by the clothes specialists over here.

Many of these Paris modes are adopted outright because they spring from a field long fertile with all that is lovely. Many others have to be adapted to the American woman and still others created especially for her.

The wise designer, observes a prominent fashion correspondent, like the true artist, knows what is beautiful and selects it from the myriads of ideas and fabrics which are as conglomerate as a hundred daubs of paint on an artist's palette.

Out of this class of fashion creators with "the know" has arisen the American couturier, who, while keeping a watchful eye on Paris, knows how to create her own models, which rival in loveliness and perfection any importation that France may send over.

With the coming of peace the Parisienne burst into bloom. Like some rare bulb that had lain in dark hibernation awaiting the call of the spring sun, she dazzled the world. Her evening gowns could not be sufficiently brilliant in color to express her mood of joyousness.

Naturally, the American woman, atune with the same joy of victory, followed suit. Brilliance marked every gathering. Jewels were brought from their velvet boxes, and once more the American woman bloomed. The marvel was how quickly femininity was able to clothe itself in the new and brilliant raiment of joyous peace.

Taffeta Favored for Coats. Evening coats vie with evening gowns in their brilliancy. Taffeta is the favorite fabric for these summer mantles, though baronette satin with its glimmering folds makes exquisite evening wraps. Glace silk, with two tones running in its depth, is found in many of these capelike garments. Two contrasting layers of chiffon or georgette crepe make delightfully pretty wraps and give sufficient warmth for balmy summer evenings.

These wraps are frequently yoked in the drop shoulder line and the silhouette suggests the old-fashioned dolman, which lends itself perfectly to these modern capes. Crystal tassels, or those of silver, gold and jet, trim these garments or act as ornaments on heavy strands of beads that tie the fronts of the cap together. Pearl and jet are effectively combined in this bead trimming.

The collars of these wraps are sometimes made of the material. They are cut straight, made double, and are gathered and wired at the center back to give the high line reaching nearly to the crown of the head. Fur, especially white fox and skunk, is used with lovely softness on these capes when a fur collar is needed. The contrast of peltry with silk is always lovely, however inconsistent it may look in summer.

Ostrich feathers are profusely used to trim these evening capes. The graceful fronds of ostrich make the ideal trimming for the summer wraps. Fringe is seen on these garments, but not so much as formerly.

A lovely evening wrap is made of geranium pink taffeta. A long cape

Toll Service At Reduced Cost

YOU CAN SAVE ABOUT 25 PER CENT on toll rates if you can use the station-to-station method; that is, asking for "Anyone" when making a toll call.

When your business cannot be transacted except with one particular person, and there is doubt that he will be at hand when called, the use of this method is not advised.

In such cases the person-to-person call is recommended. In most instances, however, the person wanted is at hand, or there is present some alternate with whom business may be transacted or a message left.

If, in your judgment, you can get satisfactory results by calling for "Anyone," it will pay you to do so.

YOU CAN SAVE MORE THAN 50 PER CENT on toll rates for calls to points more than 75 miles away, between 8.30 p. m. and midnight, if made by the station-to-station method; that is, if the call is made for "Anyone" instead of for a particular party.

Lesser reductions apply to points over 32 and less than 75 miles away.

YOU CAN SAVE 75 PER CENT on toll rates for station-to-station calls made between midnight and 4:30 A. M., to points more than 75 miles away, if made by the station-to-station method.

Quicker service will be obtained if you call the telephone number desired. If you do not know the number, the toll operator will get it for you.

Illustrative Comparisons in Cost for Calls to Points from 75 to 300 Miles Away.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 16, 1919.

Congress this week takes up the peace treaty and the league of nations. The big guns will thunder at Washington.

Maine got some advertising in the debate of the prohibitory enforcement law in Congress Friday, Representative Fitzgerald of Massachusetts holding up the State as an example of the folly of attempting enforcement, and Representative Hersey of Maine coming to the defense of the State.

President Wilson has saved the daylight-saving law for the present, at least, having vetoed the agricultural bill because it carried a rider repealing the law. The House Monday refused to pass the bill over the President's veto. The fight over the daylight-saving law seems to be a matter of country against city. In the cities the law is popular, but in the country, especially among the farmers, it is unpopular.

The Bar Harbor Times voices the suggestion that the new Mt. Desert bridge, which will be completed this year, be dedicated as a memorial to the soldiers and sailors of the world war. The suggestion is a good one. The Times says it has already received the approval of the State highway commissioners. It is suggested that a suitable bronze tablet be erected upon the bridge and the day of dedication be made a county holiday.

Maine Centennial celebration. The legislative committee appointed to make arrangements for an appropriate celebration of the centennial of the setting off of the State of Maine from Massachusetts, has decided upon Portland as the place for the celebration, if that city will meet the State's appropriation of $25,000 with a like sum. It is planned to have a full week's program.

Drowned at Bar Harbor. Alfred A. LeFranc of Chicago, on duty at the radio station at Bar Harbor, was drowned Saturday afternoon, by the capsizing of a canoe. A companion, who was a good swimmer, made a desperate effort to save him, and several times succeeded in getting him to the rocks, only to be washed back into the sea.

Catarhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflammation of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Medicine. Circulars free. All Druggists, 75c.

GIVEN D. D. DEGREE.

Rev. Albert J. Lord, an Ellsworth Boy, Awarded Honor by Bowdoin. Rev. Albert J. Lord of Meriden, Conn., who for several months has been acting as religious executive of the Y. M. C. A. with the army of occupation in Germany, was this year awarded the honorary degree of doctor of divinity by Bowdoin college.

Neither Mr. Lord nor his family had the slightest idea that the honor was to be conferred upon him. Dr. Lord recently had the distinction of holding the last religious service under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. in Verdun. From there he went to St. Mihiel and Toul, and back to Paris for reassignment. Writing of Verdun in a recent letter, he said: "Verdun, Verdun" called out our auto driver as we reached a hill which overlooked a city in ruins. The story of the siege of Verdun came quickly into our minds, and we recalled the awful struggle and the words of General Petain, who, with his brave soldiers, stood like a wall of adamant against the crushing Germans, and said, "They shall not pass, they shall not pass."

As we rode on through the streets, past acres of ruins where formerly 25,000 people lived, past homes totally destroyed, churches shot to pieces and trees cut down, we found ourselves stirred with a bitter feeling against the enemy, and declared that justice must be meted out to the Germans and that they must be forced to pay to the uttermost for their uncalculated crimes.

The military strength of Verdun is not in her fortified city but in her thirty-six forts which cover the surrounding country. Some of the forts are seven or eight miles from the city proper. They are not built like the forts in our own country, but are constructed in hills which have been tunneled out and fortified. As one strolls over the fields little of the fort can be seen, but below ground there is a veritable city.

I went through the fortification in the city of Verdun, and found five miles of tunnels, some of which were seventy feet below the surface of the earth. The fortresses here in the city can accommodate 25,000 soldiers, and then there will be room for 15,000 civilians.

I am seeing Verdun, the forts and the destroyed villages much as the war has left them. Of all the buildings that stood in Verdun in 1915, not one is left whole to-day.

These buildings are nothing but piles of stone, brick, mortar or tile, or at best gash roofs held up by shell-torn walls. A few of the people are beginning to come back.

Verdun is guarded by French soldiers who are directing the work of reconstruction.

SEAL COVE.

The ladies of the Baptist society held an ice-cream sale at Mrs. C. E. Ashley's July 4. Over $17 was cleared.

Dr. Frank A. Hodgdon and wife of Corinna were guests of the doctor's parents, Frank L. Hodgdon and wife, at Center, July 4, remaining until July 8.

Willis Carter has moved his household goods from Southwest Harbor to Bayside, and will occupy the George Stewart house. Mr. Stewart has moved to Bar Harbor.

Capt. George Nickerson, wife and daughter, and Mr. Snare, all of Hampden Highlands, were in town Sunday, guests of Capt. Nickerson's sister, Mrs. L. R. Hodgdon.

The new mail service whereby mails come from Ellsworth to Somerville, Mt. Desert, and there change for the western side postoffices, is giving good satisfaction now, and everything is working smoothly. Mails arrive at Center and Seal Cove offices about 11 a. m.

The house owned and occupied by Alfred Butler and family, at Center, was burned July 7. The family lost practically everything, as the entire upper part of the house was in flames before the fire was discovered. The fire is attributed to a defective chimney. Mr. Butler and family are now living in the house formerly owned by Capt. William Ober.

MARRIED.

BROWN-PEARSON.

Wednesday evening, July 9, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Brown on Laurel street, their only daughter, Mary Ethel, was married to George Cromwell Pearson. Rev. John W. Tickle, of the Unitarian church, officiated, using the double ring service.

At 8 o'clock the bridal couple, unattended, entered the parlor. The bride was becomingly attired in a gown of white net over white satin and carried bride's roses. The parlor was tastefully decorated in pink and white.

After the ceremony, dainty refreshments were served by Mrs. Everett Brown, assisted by Misses Julia and Doris Heath, Dorothy McGowan and Gertrude Dorgan.

Mr. and Mrs. Pearson are among Ellsworth's most popular young people. The groom is employed by the American Railway Express Co., and is now located at Bar Harbor, where the young couple will reside. The display of wedding gifts testified to the esteem in which the young couple was held.

BARRETT-CHASE.

A pretty wedding took place at the home of Mrs. Grace W. Barron Thursday evening, July 10, when her younger daughter, Adelia Wilbur Barron was married to Albert Wooster Chase of Ellsworth, N. H., by Rev. E. H. Moyle of the Methodist church. The double ring service was used.

The bride entered the double parlors on the arm of her brother, Milton A. Barron, followed by Julia H. Barron as maid of honor and Anne Hyder of Kenduskeag as bridesmaid. They were met in the front parlor by the groom, with George Grant as best man. The bridal party stood in the arch between the parlors, beneath an arch of evergreen and Canterbury bells.

The bride was gown in white crepe de chine with Georgette crepe, and a wedding veil fastened with a wreath of orange blossoms. Her bouquet was of bride roses. The maid of honor and bridesmaid wore pink and carried pink sweet peas tied with pink mull.

The house was prettily decorated with roses, spires and vines. Mrs. Mary A. Bonney, assisted by Miss Georgia Hamor and Miss Ruth Remick, served refreshments. Miss Bessie M. Hersey presided at the punch table.

After a short wedding trip in the Berkshires, Mr. and Mrs. Chase will be at home at Berlin, N. H., where they are ready to begin housekeeping. Mr. Chase has just returned from overseas, and has received his discharge. Mrs. Chase has been a successful teacher in Ellsworth, and has taught in Berlin for two years. She is a graduate of Ellsworth high school and Castine normal school. The groom's present to the bride was a handsome table cover which he brought from France. The presents were many.

ESTEY-RAMSDELL.

A pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. Scott Estey Thursday afternoon, when their daughter Julia was united in marriage to Hollis L. Ramsdell of Lubec. Rev. R. B. Mathews officiated using the double ring ceremony. The bride was gown in white crepe de chine and georgette, and wore a corsage bouquet of bride's roses. They were unattended.

Immediately after the ceremony a luncheon was served to the wedding party. Mrs. Ramsdell, since her graduation from the Ellsworth high school, has been a very popular teacher. Mr. Ramsdell is a graduate of the college of agriculture, University of Maine.

Mr. and Mrs. Ramsdell were the recipients of many useful and valuable gifts showing the esteem in which they are held. They left amid a shower of rice and confetti for Gardiner, where they will reside.

SERIOUS KIDNEY TROUBLE

Government Inspector in Rochester Praises "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

MR. R. B. O'FLYNN

89 North Union St., Rochester, N.Y.
 "For five long years, I was afflicted with Stomach, Liver and Kidney Trouble, which developed into serious Bladder Trouble. During that time, I am safe in saying I tried over 50 different remedies without relief."

I saw a testimonial of, I think, a Montreal man about 'Fruit-a-tives' and concluded to make one more trial. By the time the sample box was finished I found quite an improvement; and when I had finished a 50c. box, there was a grand improvement far beyond my expectations. To make a long story short, I believe 'Fruit-a-tives' or Fruit Liver Tablets the best Stomach, Liver and Bladder Medicine the world has ever produced."

HOW THE FAMILY INCOME SHOULD BE DISTRIBUTED

Every Family Should Have Own Personal Household Budget

THRIFT AS A STABILIZER OF BUSINESS.

The Foundation Upon Which All Successful Enterprises Are Based.

In a recent address in New York City Mr. William Mather Lewis contrasted thrift with mere saving. Thrift, he said, is a much broader matter than mere saving. Thrift is care and prudence in the management of one's affairs; the foundation upon which every successful and enduring business enterprise is based.

The man who hoards his money, who deprives himself of the necessities of life in order to accumulate, is going counter to the Declaration of Independence—He is narrowing his life, restricting his liberty, and shutting himself away from true happiness. He who spends his money wisely, who apportions his dollars intelligently against the needs of today and the needs of tomorrow, who, in other words, is practicing thrift, is investing in liberty and happiness, is securing life more abundantly.

The miser lays aside a surplus by refusing to buy those things which necessity and comfort and the good of his community require. The thrifty man buys liberally and intelligently; he makes very sure that the shoes for which he exchanges the product of many hours' labor contain good workmanship and good material; that the meat he carries home at night goes on the table, not in the garbage can. He insists that the dollar he hands the employee be earned by an hour of honest labor. A thrifty man is careful of other things than money. Such a one does not arrive at the station half an hour before train time. If his time is worth three dollars an hour he does not use it up on work that a three-dollar-a-day assistant could do. Thrift consists in making the most of one's resources, tangible and intangible—making the most of them for the benefit of self and of one's fellows.

As a means of thrift, Mr. Lewis advocated the formation of War Savings Societies and investment in War Savings Stamps.

The household is a corporation with certain definite obligations and a more or less certain income, and it should, therefore, have a definite budget.

No general budget can be so framed as to fit the needs of every family. Families differ, even when identical in size, number, sex and general situation, but no family can thrive and progress without sound and sane financing, without arrangement of a reasonable financial margin, without regular saving and investments, such as are offered by Thrift and War Savings Stamps; and only intelligent adherence to an intelligent budget can be trusted, under ordinary circumstances, to bring about the desired results.

Methods of appropriation, however, differ; a method which proves feasible in a given family would be worse than useless in another; but certain cardinal principles may be safely laid down.

The amount of possible savings should be set apart definitely and rigidly adhered to. Other allowances may be variable or they may be held within hard and fast limits. One plan after another may be tried, if liked, until the best one suited is found.

All things considered, the most easily efficient budget usually is that which allows a certain share of the income for each budget head listed, holds rigidly within the items of appropriation, and wisely applies any balance or surplus to the savings or recreation account.

QUAKER ACROSTIC

The man who saveth money
 Hath his future guaranteed.
 Remorse o'er substance wasted
 Is unknown to him, indeed.
 Fortune smileth on him.
 Things he hath, as he may need.

The man who spendeth wisely;
 Hath no idle, wasted hour;
 Ruleth cities—even nations—
 Interest for him doth flower.
 For he learneth as he liveth
 Thrift succeedeth—THRIFT IS

Lincoln said: "Be a patriot! Don't mar the immortal emblem of humanity, the Declaration of Independence." Buy Thrift and War Savings Stamps.

In a multitude of thrifts there is safety from worry. Buy wisely, save intelligently, and invest in Thrift Stamps and War Savings Stamps.

"May the vast future not have to lament that you neglected it." Buy Thrift Stamps and War Savings Stamps.

 A rolling fancy gathers no Thrift Stamps.

Be thrifty and free—to buy Thrift Stamps and War Savings Stamps.
 Look before or you'll find yourself behind in War Savings Stamps.

If you pay too much for your whistle you'll have too little to buy War Savings Stamps.

Wise saving will increase your buying power. Investing in War Savings Stamps is wise saving.

The War Savings Certificate interferes with one of the most popular indoor sports—robbing the baby's bank.

Membership in a War Savings Society will help you to succeed. Save and succeed.

Butter! Did you ever hear of starting life with nothing but?

That is the way United States Senator Gilbert M. Hitchcock started.

It was not by eating butter but by going without it that he got the start. He says:

"My father told me that if I would go without butter for a year, he would give me a calf."

"Why a calf? I suppose it was because the young bovine animal normally consumes, when fed on its mother's milk, a lot of cream which might otherwise become butter. Accordingly, if I saved a year's butter I might be deemed entitled to a calf."

"Anyway, I went butterless, and I got the calf."

"A calf was of no use to me, so I sold it and with the money bought a few hens and a rooster, building up a small trade in eggs and chickens, which I sold to my own family and to the neighbors."

"My grandfather encouraged me to earn money, and save it. If there had been Thrift Stamps and War Savings Stamps in those days, he would certainly have urged me to buy them. As it was, he acted as my banker, and added a dollar for every one I saved, allowing me good interest on both."

"Later on, I got a job with my father, and by the time I was 19 I had accumulated several hundred dollars. With this I paid my way through the law school. On graduation I had used up about all of my money, but it was well spent. The legal education that I obtained was the most valuable part of my training for the business of life."

"If I had not saved, I could not have gone to the law school. My savings gave me that opportunity, and enabled me to follow my bent."

TOWN FOR COLORED FOLK

Truxton, Va., Built by Government to House Employees of Naval Base.

Portsmouth, Va.—A model town, constructed by the government exclusively for colored people, was formally opened with ceremonies, and Truxton, Va., as the new town is known, took its place on the map as a suburb of Portsmouth.

Built primarily for war purposes to house employees at the great Hampton roads naval base, the 224 buildings in the little town will not be sold immediately by the government, but will be rented at from $16 to $19 a month. The town is one of the 24 housing projects the United States Housing corporation is rapidly completing in various parts of the country for the government. Final disposition of the property rests with congress.

Officials of the United States Housing corporation, officers from the naval base and Virginia state officials attended the opening ceremonies. L. K. Sherman, president of the housing corporation and a representative of the department of labor, made an address.

Army Air Service Completing Maps of Three Cross-Country Trunk Routes.

Washington.—The army air service has made substantial progress in the work of preparing national aerial routes, the map already showing a number of travel lanes in 30 states. The entire country will be covered as soon as adequate data has been compiled.

Information entered on the master map here covers every detail necessary for the successful operation of an airplane over the territory shown. Distances, fields, suitable landing stations, places where vital supplies and parts may be obtained, as well as condition of terrain, all are noted.

It is proposed to chart three trunk routes from coast to coast, with about twenty-four feeding or distributing routes, which, it is stated, "would bring every city and town in the United States within six hours flying time of the distributing points." Completion of the national map is expected before the close of the year.

German Rings Cost Boy $5,000 Suit for Injuries.

Kansas City, Mo.—Did Fate follow John Scarello, sixteen-year-old Italian boy, when a German iron ring he was wearing caught in a box nailing machine at the Inman box factory here?

After Judge Southern of the circuit court had ordered the jury to find for the defendant, it was discovered the ring belonged to Scarello and which caused him to lose one finger, bore this inscription:

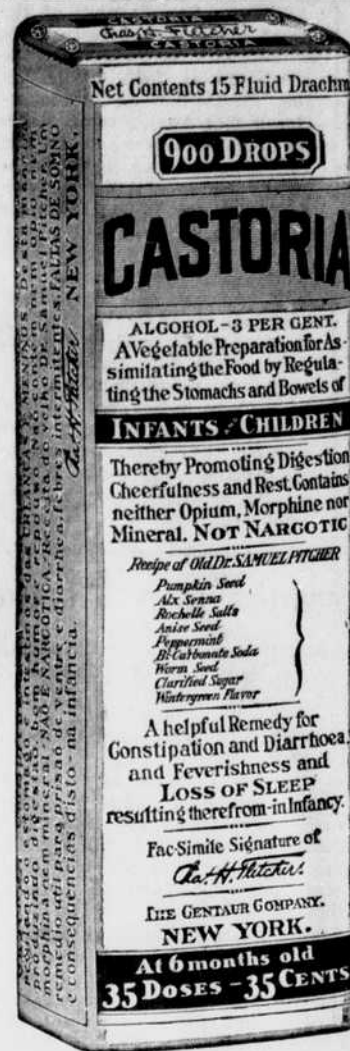

"To show my honor and loyalty to the fatherland in this hour of distress, I give my gold for this iron."

The boy had sued for $5,000. The evidence showed he was careless, and the jury was instructed to find for the defendant.

COAL SHORTAGE ON WAY; GOVT. SAYS BUY NOW

May Be Repetition of 1917-18
Conditions Next Winter Says
Geological Survey.

MINES IDLE WITHOUT ORDERS.

Those Who Delay Ordering Longer May Not Get Their Fuel Later On.

The United States Geological Survey announces from Washington the probability of another general coal shortage next fall and winter. The announcement is based, the Survey states, upon a nation-wide study of conditions in the bituminous field. Unless steps are taken at once, the Survey says, to place the mines upon a basis of increased production there is every prospect of a repetition to some degree of the situation that prevailed in the United States during the winter of 1917-18.

The only way production can be stimulated at the present time, it is said, is by placing orders with the mines for coal which will be needed later on. "Production during the first five months of the year," reads the statement, "fell 57,292,000 net tons, or approximately 25% below production during the first five months of 1918. Mines are producing coal now at the rate of from 8,000,000 to 8,500,000 tons a week. An average output of 10,700,000 tons a week must be maintained from June 1 to January 1 next if the country's estimated needs of 500,000,000 tons this year are to be met."

Evil of Delayed Orders.

At no time during this year has the rate of production approached the required tonnage. The tendency on the part of buyers to hold off placing their orders is limiting production, as the mines cannot store coal at the point of production, and when the rush of orders for the winter's needs comes next fall there is grave danger that the mines, with depleted labor forces and the probability of less adequate transportation, will be unable to meet the demands. The result of such a situation would be an insufficient supply for the requirements of domestic consumers, public utilities and industrial users generally.

"It is believed that requirements for this year," reads a Survey statement to Fuel Administrator Garfield, "will be about 530,000,000 tons of bituminous coal, of which approximately 30,000,000 tons have been used from stocks accumulated last year, leaving 500,000,000 tons to be produced. Of this 500,000,000 tons 178,000,000 tons were produced during the first five months, leaving 322,000,000 tons to be produced in the remaining 30 weeks, or an average of 10,700,000 tons a week.

"Thus far this year production has been at the rate of 8,200,000 tons a week. In 1918 production was at the rate of 11,300,000 tons a week.

"This production will be difficult of accomplishment. The capacity of operating mines at the present time with labor now on the payroll is about 10% lower than it was last year. This deficiency may be made up in part or wholly if the mines have orders sufficient to run them five or six days a week unless the threatened exodus of foreign-born labor occurs.

May Be Car Shortage.

"Present wage agreements between operators and miners expire with the proclamation of peace by the President. A suspension of mining operations while a new wage agreement is being negotiated would, of course, seriously interfere with the production of coal and if it should occur during the fall would cause a panic among buyers and consumers of coal."

There is no use in gambling upon this or any other contingency, fuel administration officials say. The firm or individual who wants to be sure of an adequate coal supply next winter can be certain by buying coal now. There is no other way such assurance can be obtained. Transportation also promises to be a limiting factor if the flood tide of demand comes at a time when the country's record crops are being carried. In some districts it would appear certain that, notwithstanding the utmost endeavors of the Railroad Administration and the utilization of its experience last fall, a coal shortage will be a cause limiting bituminous coal production, and for that reason it is problematical whether the expected production of 500,000,000 tons can be attained this year.

Shortage of labor already is a factor that is cutting down the output in some coal producing sections, according to the Survey's report. The operators report that from 30,000 to 40,000 foreign-born miners expect to return to Europe as soon as they can get passports and that many have already returned. If continued this movement will be a reduction of the amount of coal mined in districts where the mine labor is largely foreign-born, and there are many such districts.

He who needs coal should hesitate no longer. Now is the time to buy coal.

Atlanta Rivals Reno in Its Divorce Mill

Atlanta, Ga.—Because of the great number of divorce suits undischarged in the Atlanta courts Judge John T. Pendleton, who a few weeks ago declared that Atlanta is out-Renoing Reno in divorce records, has recommended the appointment by the county of a "divorce defender" to investigate thoroughly all divorce pleas and actively represent the defense in all undefended divorce cases.

"If husbands and wives knew that both sides to these family troubles would be aired in court and that the faults of both sides would be exhibited before the jury, there would be a lot of people more willing and eager to settle their differences peaceably instead of rushing into divorce courts," declared Judge Pendleton.

FORTUNE LOST IN STRIKES

Labor Disorders in Ruhr Coal District of Germany Prove Financial Disaster.

Berlin.—The strike recently concluded in the Ruhr coal district has cost the miners $8,000,000 in wages. The output deficit for April is 3,330,000 tons, representing more than $34,000,000. The loss to physical property is believed to be so great as to preclude profitable operation for a long time to come.

The miners in the Ruhr coal fields are more than $25,000,000 out on their wages account as the strikes have been going on intermittently since the beginning of the revolution. In the Hamborn district miners struck 63 days out of 140 working days between November 9 and April 28.

The loss to the nation as a result of the coal strikes cannot be computed. It caused a general paralysis of railway traffic, the shutting down of industrial plants and a loss of revenue and freight to the state railways. The national strike fever is believed to have caused a depreciation in the national currency of more than $4,000,000,000, and to have aided to repress the value of the German mark abroad.

GOING TO EXPLORE ANTARCTIC

Veteran British Traveler Will Spend
Six Years in South Pole Region.

London.—John L. Cope, veteran antarctic explorer, is organizing an expedition to pass six years in the south pole region. The exploring party is to be known as the "British Imperial antarctic expedition." It will leave England in the famous ship Terra Nova in June, 1920, and will not return until 1926.

An airplane is to be taken on the expedition and a flight in it to the south pole is contemplated. The plane will also be used to facilitate the surveying of the antarctic regions.

Mr. Cope will also take with him the latest wireless telegraphic devices to enable him to keep in constant touch with the rest of the world while he is making his explorations.

The main object of the expedition is to ascertain the position and extent of the mineralogical and other deposits of economic value known to exist in Antarctica, and arrange for their practical development as a further source of imperial wealth.

TRAIN APES AS FARM HANDS

Doctor Garner Plans Establishing Colony of Chimpanzees in United States.

New York.—Dr. Richard Lynch Garner announced his intention of establishing a colony of chimpanzees and gorillas in the United States to uplift the entire ape race. He has just returned after two and one-half years spent in the French Congo for the Smithsonian Institution.

The professor said he believes apes, if given the advantage of modern education and environment, would develop into a race that would sow and reap and toil in the mills. In refined young lady apes the professor sees a possible solution of the servant problem.

"Sam, a boy ape that shared my home in Africa, learned to fetch things I called for," he said. "He became as particular as I about bed sheets being smoothed out, and couldn't go to sleep without a pillow. If man could train a dog to herd sheep, man can make a farm hand out of an ape."

TRIBUTE TO FRENCH WOMAN

American Traveler Tells of Her Good
Qualities and the Great Debt the Nation Owe Her.

The French woman is brought up to neglect none of the arts that attract men. Even in munition plants the woman worker knows where the mirror hangs, often has her powder puff at hand, and gives unconsciously the deft touch to the hair, writes Lyman Powell in the Designer. If it has sometimes seemed to us that the French wife overlooks too easily the unconsciousness of a husband, it is because we have failed to understand that French women are expected to keep themselves so attractive to the mate after marriage as well as before that he will not want to wander over fields.

If it be asked what woman is sufficient all through life for the double duty of being a good wife and a good mother, I name you France, and add that French women are in this regard the marvel of their sex and the strongest bulwarks of monogamy.

And all talk about the lower birth rate in France is beside the mark. The child is held so precious in the French mind that he usually remains a dream child till the right conditions are in sight for his upbringing. If allowance be made for that fringe of the unproductive found in every land, it is doubtful whether the birth rate among the high-minded and responsible is lower over there than over here.

The French woman cannot be summed up in a phrase. Contrary to the general opinion, she is simple, practical, sensible, tenacious, deliberate, cautious, farsighted and affectionate. She is sensitive but not sentimental. She is talkative but not superficial. She is ebullient but not enduring. She is a compound of heart and head, which explains Joffre, Petain, Foch and the Poilu, who have fought these four years past our battle as well as their own and have been the surprise of every friend as well as the exasperation of the foe.

If Waterloo was won on the playing fields of Eton, Rugby, Harrow, certainly the Marne, Verdun, the Somme were won in the French house where the French woman lives and manages, smiles and plans, suffers and "carries on."

Fish Trapped in Tomato Can.

Early in November Allen Wiffin of Blairsville, N. Y., filled a tomato can nearly full of worms and went to the lake to fish for pike. He anchored his rowboat near Lone Bar and proceeded to fish.

Late in the afternoon Wiffin placed his catch in a bag, picked up the can, which has half-full of angelfish, and threw it into the water. He says that when the can struck the water a large fish jumped out, hit the can with its tail, and the can filled with water and sank.

A few days later Wiffin again went to the lake to fish. He anchored his boat 50 rods from shore and had fished for nearly an hour when he discovered a tin can floating on the water. The peculiar motion of the can attracted his attention, he says, and he rowed the boat to it, and with a landing net scooped the can into the boat. Great was his surprise, he says, when he raised the can from the water to see a large fish with its head in the can.

Lafayette Home Shelters Orphans.

The old home of General Lafayette, at Chavanac, a town in the department of Haute-Loire, is being used as an American home for French war orphans. The Lafayette fund conducts the shelter.

A hundred children from the devastated regions are at Chavanac. A modern schoolhouse and a hospital have been built near the old chateau. The orphans learn English. They are being brought up with the aim of sending them to America after the war for the completion of their professional or commercial education. They are learning American ways and ideas. In America, each child has a godfather who will take over its education later.

The best care that American science can give is afforded the children. The Lafayette fund is a wealthy organization and intends to greatly extend its work.

Accidents Notably Decreased.

Accidents in the iron and steel industry have decreased by more than two-thirds during the last ten years as the result of a movement to enforce safety regulations, according to a report by the bureau of labor statistics. In 1907, the report shows, 245 men were killed or injured out of every 1,000 employed, while in 1917 the accident rate was reduced to 81 per 1,000. A further reduction would have been recorded in 1917 but for the dislocation of industrial processes to meet war needs, the report says.
